To Our Valued Pharmacy Partner:

We'd like to let you know that our practice has recently enabled electronic prescribing by securing a connection to the Pharmacy Health Information Exchange™, operated by SureScripts®. The Pharmacy Health Information Exchange facilitates the secure transmission of prescription information between physicians and pharmacists, and provides access to life-saving information about patients during emergencies or routine care.

This means that we will be able to respond to refill authorization requests from pharmacies that are connected to this network electronically, as an alternative to time-consuming phone calls and faxes. We can also send new prescriptions directly to the computers at these pharmacies without faxing, phoning, or writing a prescription.

If your pharmacy has already secured a connection to this network, then we look forward to improving the efficiency of the prescribing process by exchanging prescription information with you electronically. If you are unsure, please contact your pharmacy systems vendor or your chain pharmacy support desk and ask whether your pharmacy is connected to the Pharmacy Health Information Exchange, operated by SureScripts.

Even if you're not connected yet you may be using pharmacy software that is certified to connect. You can check this status by completing the form below and returning it to SureScripts. SureScripts will then confirm whether your pharmacy can connect to the network and give you next steps to do so. You can also contact the SureScripts Electronic Prescribing Resource Center at 1-866-RxReady (1-866-797-3239).

How would you prefer to receive your follow	/-un information?

Important Notice: SureScripts will deliver follow-up information to you via e-mail or fax, given your preference. SureScripts, founded by the National Community Pharmacists Association (NCPA) and the National Association of Chain Drug Stores (NACDS), operates the Pharmacy Health Information Exchange – which allows pharmacists and physicians to share prescription information in a secure electronic format. SureScripts also acts as a resource to give pharmacies the information they need to secure and maintain their connection for electronic prescribing as well as the tools they need to announce their connectivity to their physician partners.
